Sirs :

On-the first of August you sold us five chests of choice Hyson teas. We-have disposed of four (of the) chests, and-as our customers like-the tea we-may ask you

Exercise 47.Exercise 48.

Sir: Can you do anything to assist your young son in his study (of the) language? We are sorry to say nothing we can say or do appears to have any effect on him. We should like you to do something to induce him to make a genuine study of it in the new year, when we resume our lessons. The first thing we wish you to do is to get him to read a page or two of his book each day, and the rest is likely to be easy. You may as well see the boy to-day and get him to look at the thing in the right way.

Yours respectfully,

Exercise 49.

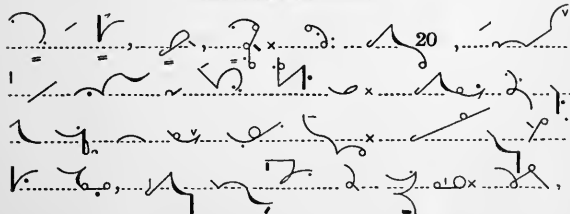

Exercise 50.

Philip Jackson & Sons,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Sirs :

We think we can do something to push your business in this city, and our services are at your disposal if you will test us. It will cost you nothing to make the test. If you will write us we shall be happy to come and see you, and we think it will be an easy thing to show you something of our success in business affairs. We have in the past had a big share in raising some (of the) best houses in the States, and if you will allow us to assist you with our advice we think you may rely on your business next year being twice what it is this year. May we ask you to see if we can carry out what we say?

Respectfully yours,

Exercise 51.Exercise 52.

(a) Dear-Sirs :

We have your favor of Friday last, and in reply beg to say you may rely on the flasks being ready by Wednesday next. Most of them are ready now.

Yours-truly,

(b) Dear-Sir :

Your favor of April 29th has just come and we are mailing you the samples of flannel to-day. We thank you for your favor and we shall be pleased to do our best for you in any way.

Respectfully-yours,

(c) Dear-Sir :

I am in receipt of your favor of May 6th and in reply would say I am favorably impressed with the proposal you make. I shall be pleased if you will call on me on Friday next, when we can talk the business over.

Yours-truly,

(d) Dear-Sir :

We are in receipt of your favor of March 4th, and if you will give us the list of places you propose to visit we shall be pleased to think over your offer.

Yours-truly,

(e) Dear-Sir :

In reply to your favor of July 5th, we beg to say the electric pressure in our carriages is too low to give a shock. They have no clumsy gear for change of speed, and the loss of energy ceases when the carriage stops. We shall be pleased to give you every other detail if you wish it.

Yours-respectfully,

Exercise 62.

(c) Handwriting practice lines showing various cursive letters and symbols. The first row includes a cursive '10' followed by several loops and a checkmark. The second row includes a cursive 'x', a cursive '6', and other loops.

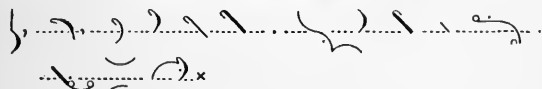

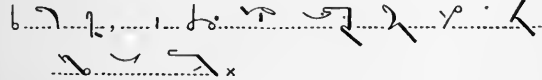

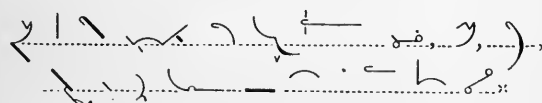

(d)

A handwriting practice sheet for cursive capital letters. The letters A through Z are written in a cursive style on lined paper. Each letter is shown twice: first on a set of three horizontal lines (top, middle, bottom) and then on a set of two horizontal lines (top and bottom). The letters are arranged in four rows: Row 1 (A-H), Row 2 (I-P), Row 3 (Q-V), and Row 4 (W-Z). The letters are written in a consistent cursive style, with some variations in the way they are connected to the next letter.

(a) Dear-Sir:

We-thank-you for-your early-reply to-ours of-April 20th. We-think such a business as you suggest would thrive, and-we-shall-be-pleased if-you-will ask both-the engraver and-the framer to-give us a call.

Very-truly-yours,

(b) Dear-Sir:

I-am-very-sorry to see from your-reply you-are unable to rush-the job you-are doing-for-me at Beaver Avenue. Mr. Farmer, who-has-the store at No. 40, spoke very gruffly to-me to-day. He-thinks there-is unnecessary delay with-the job. I-have-no desire to anger him more, and-I-shall-be-pleased, therefore, if-you-will advise me as to what-is-the best you-can-do for-me.

Yours-truly,

(c) Dear-Sir:

Are you almost through with-the job in Riverside Avenue? You-will remember you promised the party he-would-be at liberty to-go in early in August. He-is very-much upset at-the long delay. Please favor me with an early-reply and-oblige,

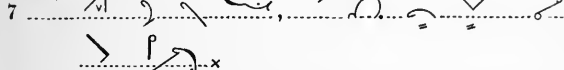

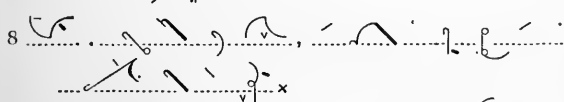

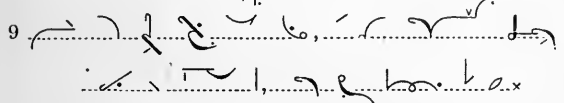

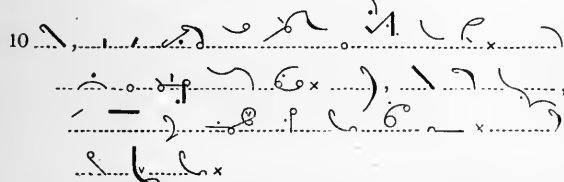

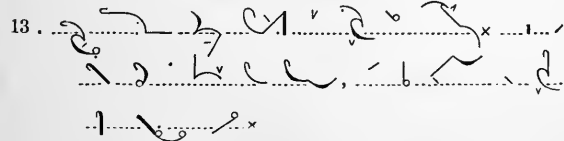

Yours-truly,

(d) Dear-Sir:

I-have-yours of-Friday and-in-reply beg to say I-am rushing-the job at Riverside Avenue as fast as I-can. You-may assure Mr. Weaver it-will-be ready by-the 28th of-this month.

Exercise 80.

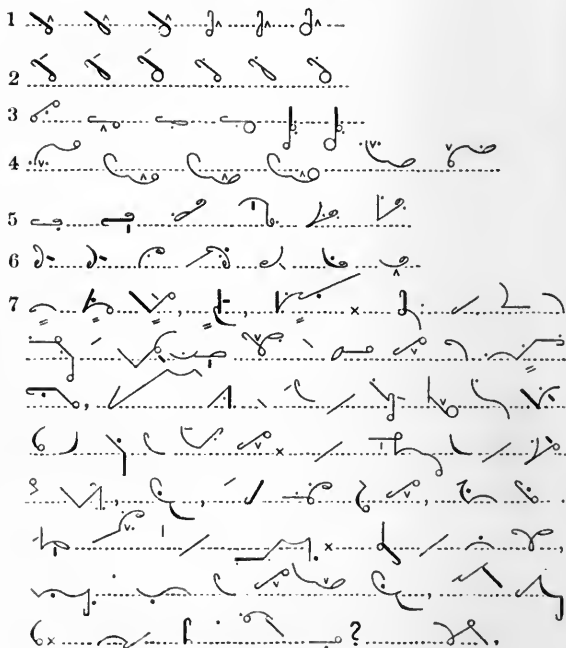

Mr. Peter Downs,
Auburn, N.Y.

Dear-Sir :

We are in receipt of your favor of June 26th, and we regret to learn your opinion (of the) gloves and scarfs. You will, however, observe they were all clearance lines, and though they are from first-class makers they had been in stock some months, and it is very possible they were a trifle dusty. It is a pity you chanced upon the dusty ones, but we are unable to make you any allowance for them. When you think of the very low prices you paid for the things we fancy you will see you have no grievance against us in this instance.

Respectfully yours,

Exercise 81.

Exercise 82.

1. If you have a difficult exercise to-do, come to-me and-I-will assist you out-of-the difficulty.
2. You-can scarcely hope to overcome a difficulty when-it comes to-you for-the-first-time.
3. It-will-be to-your advantage to-prove to-everyone your ability to-learn Phonography.
4. I-am (of the) opinion you will become a first-class phonographer if-you-will-only do your best.

5. I approve of your desire to learn, and I am sure it is within your power.
6. As a general rule, it is true to say anyone can learn who wishes to do so.
7. I am sure your people were both surprised and pleased with your success.
8. It will add to our strength, and cheer us very much, if you will come and take the chair on Saturday.
9. It would be a pleasure to me if you would come to a larger number of our gatherings.
10. If you happen to call upon Mr. Mullins when you are down, tell him to write.
11. There are a large number of things I wish you to bring back with you from the town.
12. Do you think you can remember them all, or shall I put them down on a piece of paper?
13. The principal of the firm is a very remarkable man, and I should specially like to speak to him.
14. Go through the room to the right, and you will see him.

Mr. Robert Bates,

Summit, Mo.

Dear-Sir :

In-reply-to-your-favor (of the) 8th inst., we would-say that-we-have at-all-times done our best to-keep our models up to-the highest standard, and-we-think we-have, at-any-rate, succeeded in proving that our machines are quite as cheap as any on-the market. We-have, from-time-to-time, made improvements in every type of-machine we sell; but-we-have, at-the-same-time, refused to adopt any change which-was-not absolutely safe. You-can, at-all-events, always place-the utmost reliance upon our machines, since we give a written guarantee with every machine sent out-of-our factory. We-have-for-some-time past been engaged upon a new model which-will-be placed upon-the market in a short time. A copy-of-our illustrated catalog has-been mailed you to-day, and-we-trust to be favored with a share-of-your trade.

Yours-truly,

Gentlemen :

We take the liberty of enclosing circular describing all about our new golden varnish, a preparation which is the result of years of experiment by one of our partners, who has brought it to a state of simple perfection. For the restoration of dull veneer on corner cupboards, the furbishing up of all kinds of old and fractured furniture, the polishing of coarse timber, etc., the mixture has no equal. May we send you a sample bottle?

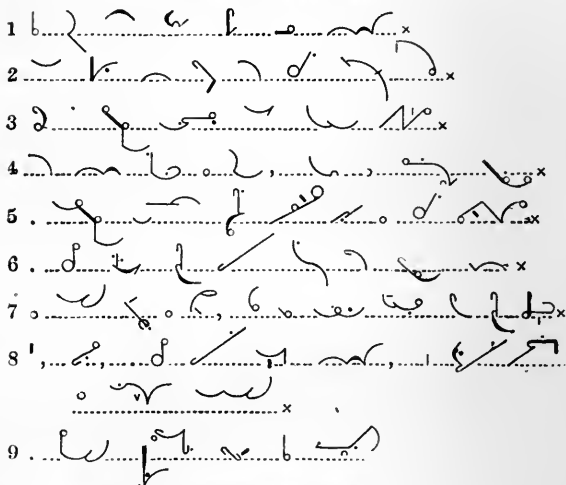

Respectfully yours,

Portland, Ore.

Dear-Sir:

We are sorry to hear the coat has not given entire satisfaction. It is very probable that there is only a slight imperfection and that a little alteration will make it satisfactory in every way. It is not our practice to turn out a garment in an unsatisfactory condition, and as far as practicable we see that this is never done. Nevertheless, it does occasionally happen that we have to enlarge the opening of a sleeve or something of that kind, after finishing a garment, and we think it is very improbable that your coat will require anything more than this. You will see that it is practically impossible that we should have enlarged our business connections and secured the friendship and patronage of so many customers if we had not been practical tailors, giving complete satisfaction in the great majority of instances. Kindly call with the coat at your convenience, and in all probability we can remedy the imperfection while you wait.

Yours respectfully,

Exercise 173.

Exercise 174.

1. I am confident that you will recognize that, at all events, I have acted to the best of my ability.
2. We are pleased that the matter has reached such a perfectly satisfactory conclusion.
3. I have concluded that, under the circumstances, it will be best to leave the matter alone.
4. All the circumstances considered, I think we have brought the affair to a very satisfactory conclusion.
5. I rely upon you to endeavor to the best of your ability to prevent such an unsatisfactory conclusion.
6. We have striven to the best of our ability to bring about an understanding between the parties.
7. If they will use their opportunities to the best of their ability there will be no chance of failure.

6. Yes, the fellow in-the colored waistcoat is very tasteful in-his dress, but he works very listlessly, and he completely spoiled the adjustment account.

Exercise 177.

Exercise 178.

1. We-are-sorry that your domestic arrangements are of-such a character as to-prevent you accepting the position.
2. You-are mistaken in supposing-the magazine to-be-the organ (of the) labor organization to-which-you-refer.
3. It-is characteristic (of the) man that-he-should make-the mistake of-giving a generalization instead-of a detailed description (of the) method of-government.
4. He-has quite extinguished our hopes that-he-would distinguish himself as a member (of the) Government, and-we-think he-will-have to-relinquish his position.
5. Ambition was-the magnet which drew him; but he-has broken his covenant with us and-is apparently unable to-govern himself.
6. The new method is to-send a powerful magnetic current through-the diseased portion, and-it-is claimed that magnetism succeeds when other remedies fail.

1. In-reply-to-your inquiry we-are-prepared to inscribe the brass-plate, as per-the example supplied by-you. for-the-sum of $25, the letters inscribed to be 1/4 of an inch deep.
2. Very-much to-our indignation the antagonism between these capable men continues.
3. Such an attitude is altogether unexampled in-our experience.

4. We should-have-thought Captain Smith incapable of-such feelings.
5. Captain Williams is quite indignant that-the appointment should-have-been given to-his antagonist, and he-makes no secret of-his disappointment.
6. The success (of the) entertainment makes-the attainment of-our object quite certain, and-we-are-glad-to-know that-the-character (of the) music gave contentment to-the majority (of the) audience.
7. The resignation will-take effect from July 14th.
8. The whole cost (of the) articles in question was but $8.35.

Mr. Henry Jackson,
Chicago, Ill.

Dear-Sir:

We-have-your-letter with-reference-to-the statement in-our March issue, and-we-are-sorry that-you-should take exception to-our remarks in-regard-to-the system of-management in-the institution named. Having-regard-to-the information in-our possession with-respect-to-this business we-find we-cannot alter our statement (of the) case. With-regard-to your charge that-we-have acted with malice, we-can-only say that-you-are entirely mistaken. We-have consulted several members (of the) committee with-relation-to the matters about which-we complain and-in-relation-to which-you-write, but-we-have-been unable to obtain satisfaction. We-are-sure, therefore, that further-consideration will convince you that-we-are quite right in-the attitude we-have-taken.

Yours-truly,

Exercise 189.

1. You-are hereby called-upon to-explain-the methods whereby you hope to-succeed.
2. You-are furthermore asked why you withdrew from-the aforesaid position, and, moreover, why you withheld the details of-your withdrawal.
3. Heretofore, you-gave us information as-to-your whereabouts; whereas now you-write us far too seldom.
4. Henceforward, you-will-be-careful to observe the instructions hereinbefore mentioned.

5. You-will, likewise, call here and report personally at Easter or thereabouts.
6. In-as-much-as you have neglected our business, you-are hereby dismissed from-the company's service.

1. We have had to discharge the agent, not for his want of intelligence, but because of his extraordinary extravagance.
2. He was quite reckless in the matter of expenditure, and he has proved an expensive man for the business.
3. Of course, he shows his displeasure; but I think he should have been discharged long since.
4. It is surprising that an intelligent man, such as he is had not a more intelligible appreciation of what was required in a manufacturer's agent.
5. I am told that he is likely to be engaged in the manufacture of an entirely dissimilar article to that in which we deal.
6. I trust he will exercise more prudence in his new venture.

HOW TO . . . READ! READ! GET SPEED

"We wish to repeat what we have said before with reference to the literature sent out by Isaac Pitman & Sons, and that is, that the very extensive line they furnish is of itself the highest recommendation for the system. No other system furnishes as much."—American Penman (Cedar Rapids, Ia.).
